Topic: Saving Airports

This Zoom covers the efforts in saving a number of small airports in the US. Some are targets for redevelopment – turning them into industrial or commercial sites. Some are the subject of community pressures to reduce noise for neighbors. Some are even being blamed for lead pollution of the area ground water. In every case local pilots are waging an uphill battle to save their airport and the freedom of flight it allows.

Hear the stories from a number of pilots on their efforts – both winning and losing - to preserve the airport they call home. Learn what methods and tools help in the process.
