Topic: “Icing, Winter Flying, and Survival”

with guests Kristin Winter, Ron Keil, Wayne Barrett, Zach Grant

What precautions are needed when planning a flight in winter conditions, how to prevent/avoid various types of icing, planning an escape route when icing does occur, and what to have onboard for survival if forced down.

This Zoom session led to an extensive discussion of preflight planning, both for the flight itself and for survival after a possible forced landing. We went on from there to a lengthy discussion on dealing with icing in flight – what it is, where you find it, how to detect it, and what to do about it.

A Topic List document was shared with the attendees, attached to the invitation and on screen, as a guide to the meeting discussion. However, we only covered the first couple of topics (preflight, survival gear and icing) There will be another ComancheZOOM in the very near future to address the remaining items.

Click the link below to see/hear the recording as we learn and ask questions. Enjoy!
