

ComancheZOOM for Thursday, February 1

Topic: Controlled Flight into Terrain - with Mike Albertson & Frank Dorrin

CFIT has long been one of the greatest killers of pilots in all types of aircraft. It often occurs in reduced visibility (night or IFR flying), severe turbulence at low altitude, or in loss of situational awareness conditions.

Learn how to recognize, avoid, respond to, and handle this emergency situation.

The discussion will be led by James Michael Albertson, PA30 pilot, aviators aviator, and Ft Rucker helicopter test pilot. His alphabet soup of FAA and other credentials is eye watering.
